FOREWORD

Americans are a people on the move. Fewer than half of us still live in the towns where we were born. When confronted by a problem such as mental retardation, few families know where to turn for help in their communities.

This confusion is compounded by the rapid advances in care and treatment of the mentally retarded and the proliferation of agencies serving them.

Even professionals in the field may be unaware of the full range of services and facilities available.

This Directory lists State and local resources for the mentally retarded. It is a checklist for use by professionals and by organizations serving the retarded.

It is hoped that this publication will be useful to those who counsel families facing the multitude of problems which arise as part of the growth and development of children who are retarded.

Special recognition is given to Robert D. Edwards, Florida State University, who is responsible for the compilation and basic format of the Directory. Mr. Edwards worked under the direction of William F. Baxter, Assistant for Mental Retardation activities in the Office of Community and Field Services.

INTRODUCTION

This Directory is a checklist of State and local agencies, facilities and other resources which render specific services to the mentally retarded.

The agencies and facilities included in the listing were compiled from a number of sources. The U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare cannot attest to either the accuracy or the comprehensiveness of these sources. A list of the basic sources which were used in compiling this Directory is found in the Reference Section at the end of the Directory.

The entire listing for State and private residential facilities contained in the Directory was taken from the Directory of Residential Facilities for the Mentally Retarded published by the American Association on Mental Deficiency in 1968. This is the most complete listing of mental retardation residential facilities available at present.

The inclusion or exclusion of any agency program, clinic or facility within this Directory does not constitute an endorsement or rejection by the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. In addition, no significance concerning the quality of care should be assumed by the inclusion of a facility or program.

Since this Directory is concerned with resources which are primarily in existence to serve the mentally retarded, many resources which serve them as a part of their total program might not appear herein.

Services related to public assistance (Medicaid and Aid to the Disabled) will be found under each state public welfare agency listing, unless otherwise noted.

A very brief description of the publication format by reference category is included below.

I. MENTAL RETARDATION STATE COORDINATING AGENCIES

Includes state commissions on mental retardation which relate to state-supported programs and facilities for the mentally retarded. A few states have established Commissions or Divisions of Mental Retardation, while others place this responsibility under boards of health or other departments. This section also lists agencies responsible for administering comprehensive planning for mental retardation under P.L. 88-156 as amended, and coordinators responsible for construction administered under P.L. 88-164, as amended.

II. STATE AGENCY ADMINISTERED PROGRAMS RELATED TO THE MENTALLY RETARDED

A. Education - State Departments of Education are generally responsible for all educational activities, including Special Education, and Vocational Education. Special Education services are based on a curriculum of instruction designed to meet the needs of the retarded in preschool, and regular school settings. The Vocational Education Amendments of 1968 enacted by Congress, provide funds for expanded State vocational education programs for handicapped students.

B. Vocational Rehabilitation - State vocational rehabilitation agencies provide a number of services designed to assist handicapped persons in becoming productive, contributing members of society. These services usually include counseling, training, maintenance during rehabilitation, physical restoration and placement. A chronic condition of long duration which constitutes an impediment to employment generally entitles one to vocational rehabilitation services.

C. Health - State Boards or Commissions of Health are concerned with strengthening public health services and administering programs related to health problems of individuals and families in the areas they serve.

D. Mental Health - State Boards or Commissions of Mental Health are concerned with improving the mental health of a particular state or community. This includes treatment of mental illness as well as promotion of mental health through preventive measures.

E. Public Welfare - State public welfare agencies administer the public assistance programs. These include old-age assistance, aid to the blind, aid to the disabled, aid to needy families, medical assistance (Title XIX) and aid to dependent children. Other services may be day care, foster family care, protective services for physically abused children and general child welfare services.

F. Special Programs

1. Maternal and Child Health Services

These services include maternity and infant care, family planning, public health nursing services, newborn screening for PKU and other disorders, immunization, health supervision and clinical services for the retarded, school health and dental programs.

2. Crippled Children's Services

These services include: programs to locate handicapped children; diagnostic evaluation which utilizes clinics, and biochemical and cytogenetic laboratories; and additional assistance to assure adequate medical care, hospitalization and follow-up by appropriate professionals.

3. Child Welfare Services

These services include protection and care of homeless, dependent and neglected children.

III. NON-GOVERNMENT STATE RESOURCES

Refers to private organizations established for the purpose of rendering assistance to the mentally retarded and their families. The State association for retarded children is part of the National Association for Retarded Children.

IV. CLINICAL PROGRAMS FOR THE MENTALLY RETARDED

These programs consist of outpatient medical facilities providing comprehensive evaluation, treatment or follow-up services primarily to children suspected of being or diagnosed as mentally retarded by an inter-disciplinary team.

V. RESIDENTIAL FACILITIES FOR THE MENTALLY RETARDED

Refers to facilities providing care and treatment for the mentally retarded on a 24-hour-a-day basis. Services include all or most of the following: diagnosis, evaluation, treatment, education, training, personal care and sheltered workshop activities.

VI. SPECIAL FACILITIES

A. University-Affiliated Facilities - These facilities provide opportunities for the clinical training or professional and technical personnel who will render diagnostic services, personal care, education, training and rehabilitation to the mentally retarded.

B. Community Facilities - These facilities are specifically designed for the diagnosis, treatment, education, training or personal care of the mentally retarded. They include sheltered workshops when these are a part of facilities providing comprehensive services.

C. Other Specialized Rehabilitation Facilities

1. Workshops for the Retarded - These workshops are those established specifically for the retarded. Workshop activities are carried out under the supervision of qualified personnel and usually involve a program of paid work, work evaluation, work adjustment training, occupational skill training, supervised transitional employment, placement and other related occupational, and social services.

2. Rehabilitation Centers - These Centers provide integrated professional services for the rehabilitation of handicapped persons in such areas as medical services, psychological/social adjustment and vocational/educational training. Such centers have a specialized program for the mentally retarded.
